Mrs. Sarah Owens celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday on Sunday with a large reception attended by her many friends in town and the surrounding county, over eighty people assembling to congratulate the beloved hostess and wish her "many happy returns." Mrs. Owens does not look as her age being remarkably well preserved. This was a very informal affair, but one of the most charming ever attended by the writer. Mrs. Owens and Mrs. C. K. Smith, the daughter of the house, had the affair in charge, and did everything to add to the comfort and pleasure of the guests. They were ably assisted by several of the younger matrons of the neighborhood, who served tea, coffee and sandwiches and cake in a most agreeable manner. Mrs. Owens has been the mother of twelve children, most of whom are still living and are very devoted to the good mother. The house was beautiful and fragrant with flowers.
